Determined with precision the shape of the Earth (see page 46). The immediate result was the foundation of the Observatoire in 1667, with the recruitment of astronomers from all over Europe, to be led by the Italian Galileo.